

The Heart Is Where The Horse Is

They are wild and free Strong, Brave and Confident Never will be tamed Always be wild When true friendship strikes not in the eye but in the heart, you will see the true person in you

Once you find that peace in you Your life will never be the same
When you find your special horse You can gallop away from all of your problems don't take advantage of your friendship
It can be Cracked and broken but never will be gone
It will heal stronger than ever

When you need someone to lift your spirits
They will always be with you, in your heart
No matter the cost or no matter the pain even when they're gone Just never waste your time you never know when the time will end

If you don't have a special horse with you now there is a horse out there for you Don't look for the beauty but look for the love in the eye Because that is the doorway to their heart and where love will strike Never give up on your dreams, the horse that is running free and Wild at this very moment Just never stop dreaming let your heart Run Wild
